

Your Print Environment Is Managed. Is the Rest of Your Technology?

Extend the visibility, security, and proactive management of Managed Print Services across your entire technology environment.

708.614.1770
ProvenIT.com

Why Optimizing Print Is Only the Beginning

Your print environment may already be optimized, but your technology strategy shouldn't stop there. Technology delivers the greatest value when it's managed as a connected ecosystem rather than a collection of separate systems.

As your organization adopts cloud applications, supports remote users, and adds more connected devices, managing each area independently can increase complexity, limit visibility, and slow issue resolution. Extending the same proactive approach beyond print helps unify your technology environment, strengthen security, and improve operational efficiency.

5 Signs It's Time to Extend Your Organization's Managed Services Beyond Print

1

You're managing multiple technology vendors: If you're relying on separate providers for print, IT, cybersecurity, and cloud services, you may be dealing with overlapping tools, inconsistent support experiences, and unclear ownership when issues arise.

2

You lack visibility across your entire environment: If you're checking multiple dashboards to understand what's happening across your business, you may be missing early warning signs and opportunities to prevent problems before they impact operations.

3

Your security strategy stops at the printer: If your network-connected printers are not included in your broader cybersecurity strategy, you may be leaving overlooked endpoints vulnerable to potential threats.

4

Your technology issues take too long to resolve: If your vendors only manage specific parts of your environment, you may spend more time determining who is responsible for an issue than actually resolving it.

5

Your technology environment is becoming harder to manage: If your organization is adding cloud applications, remote users, and connected devices faster than your processes can support them, managing technology in separate silos can create unnecessary complexity.

The Business Benefits of a Connected Technology Strategy

When your technology works together, managing your business becomes simpler. Here's what that looks like:

One view instead of multiple dashboards

Gain clearer visibility across printers, endpoints, servers, and cloud applications through a more connected view of your technology environment

One partner instead of multiple vendors

Simplify technology management with a single partner that improves accountability, reduces handoffs, and helps ensure issues are addressed faster

One predictable investment instead of unpredictable costs

Consolidate technology costs with a streamlined approach that reduces the complexity of managing separate vendor invoices, contracts, and support agreements

One security strategy

Extend security practices across printers, workstations, servers, and cloud services to create a stronger, more consistent defense strategy

One technology roadmap

Align print, IT, cybersecurity, and future technology investments under a unified strategy that supports long-term growth

A partner that connects your technology and your goals

At Proven IT, we help organizations streamline their technology by managing everything. Our team brings together the solutions that help your business run smoothly, so you can focus on running your business, not your vendors.

- Locally supported, nationally capable
- Simplified billing and support
- Consistent quality and security standards across every solution

Learn more about what Proven IT has to offer

- ▶ Workflow Automation
- ▶ Managed IT & Cybersecurity
- ▶ Communications
- ▶ Managed Print Services
- ▶ Physical Security

Ready to see what a connected technology strategy can do for your organization?

Schedule a Visibility Gap Check to discover what your print data already reveals about your broader network and how easily you can extend that visibility across your organization

708.614.1770

ProvenIT.com

Scan and Simplify
Today

